Alto. End of July update

July 25, 2024 · read online

Hi everyone,

Anton here.

Last week I've sent first issue of Alto newsletter and someone of you replied and submitted few bug reports.

I think I fixed most of them. So please, don't be shy - if something is not working, or confusing, or missing - just send me a message.

This week I did few things:

- started small YouTube channel with tiny tutorials for Alto. Check this out https://www.youtube.com/@alto_so. If you want to see some guide - request it.
- launched support for Apple Notes Templates. You can add notes called "template" to your folders and new note can be created in each folder using template.
- I also launched initial support for Apple Calendar. Currently it shows next meeting in the menubar (and also 20 next events in the Calendar tab). But in few days it would be possible to get Alto toolbar inside Apple Calendar. So you would be able to copy links to the events, create Apple Notes and Reminders from the Calendar.

How can you help?

- you can make small donates here <https://docs.alto.so/support>. It will help a lot!
- you can also leave alto.computer review in App Store. That would hugely help me to get Alto app in front of more users.
