Hi everyone,

Anton here.

Few small updates about alto from me.

1. I released alto.daily app for iPhone <https://daily.alto.so/>. Got some good feedback on reddit https://www.reddit.com/r/iosapps/comments/1eu40fi/my\_first\_ever\_ios\_app\_apple\_reminders\_addon/. I had macOS version since January - which was my first ever macOS app. And finally was able to release version for the phone. It allows you to track you daily habits while storing all the data in Apple Reminders. Give it a try and if you did - leave a review or better message me with some feedback.
2. I recently ported few more sites to Alto and it's starting to look good. Here are some sites that work on Alto:

<https://recuremail.com/> <https://podviaznikov.com/> <https://rainermb.com/>
<https://docs.alto.so/> <https://daily.alto.so/> <https://kuravska.com/>

I'm always trying tomorrow improve it and adding more customization options daily. If you see some visual elements that you don't know how to do - send me an email.

1. I'm porting <https://public.photos/> to Alto. It will work like this. Every user will have pages for photos <https://alto.so/anton/photos>. And you would be able to publish photos online directly from Apple Photos. There is "Publish photo" button there already if you have alto.computer installed. But it's not perfect yet. I'm hoping to finish this soon and have exact same functionality I have at <https://public.photos/>.

As always, please reply to this email with any questions or suggestions.

Anton
