Hi everyone,

I'm working on a new app that allows to read and edit Apple Notes directly.

It's an interesting experiment and I'm showing demo here <https://www.loom.com/share/47811c8d187f49eebe8618cc447a39ea>

You can check web site <https://original.me/> or download the app on the appstore <https://apps.apple.com/us/app/original-me/id6756148804>

The app is pretty magical. You can update your app notes and see changes in the app or you can use the app and see changes in Apple Notes.

It has tons of unique features(like markdown support better formatting, reordering of blocks, focus mode etc) — all the feature you would expect from modern app.

But it can also open any markdown file. In the next version I will enable incredible semantic search and native apple reminder and contacts integration.

It's still a very new thing, but I would appreciate if you go and try it and tell me about it - what is nice and what is confusing.

PS If you need to send emails to people or have newsletter, please check my other product <https://tinysend.com> <https://tinysend.com/>. I personally like it a lot and use it to send this very issue.
