

alto

new publishing tool

January 22, 2026 · read online

Hi everyone,

3 weeks ago I released new app to make websites.

Alto is the app that works only on macOS and allows to publish apple notes as website pages.

tinydot <https://tinydot.com/> is macOS and iOS app that allows to publish files as websites.

here is quick demo <https://capncap.com/anton/01kehwbqs4wvb39ah89tkj8mxx?layout=focus> basically app creates one dedicate folder on your mac or iPhone per site. and you can drag and drop text files, markdown files, images, videos etc. and all will be published online.

documentation is here <https://docs.tinydot.com/> here are few real sites done with it <https://docs.tinydot.com/showcase> I personally created 12 sites already.

The main benefit of this approach is that I use sometimes AI to quickly make changes to sites. Eg I use Claude Code(Claude Work, Codex would all work) and I just tell it to update files and it does and changes are published automatically.

PS Please try if you want. It's a new product. But till Feb 1 you can even port your own domain name to any site no cost.
